Regatta has developed and manufactured a broad range of flotation products for close to 50 years, and is one of Europe's leading producers of buoyancy aids and a variety of flotation products.

Products & Markets

Regatta produces flotation and marine safety products both for the recreational and industrial markets. The company is an international actor with a comprehensive and varied line of products for the maritime industry. The products are especially relevant for cruise lines, shipowners, shipyards, and the fishery and offshore branches.

Innovation in its various product segments has been, and always will be, a continuous process of high priority for Regatta. Safety, freedom of movement and comfort under all conditions are the company's quality goals. Production of the company's SOLAS products is supervised in accordance with the European Maritime Directive. Regatta cooperates closely with certification and testing authorities around the world.
